BY THEIR OWN CONFESSION.

Democratic Members do not Countenance Them.

During the winter session of Congress recently ended, there were shameful proofs of what Radical rule has done to debauch the national capital—nay, the Capitol. The following letter to the Chicago Tribune was written about the time of the close of the session:

THE HARLOT AS A POWER IN WASHINGTON.

There is a social evil reviving about the Capitol which it is time to rebuke. Long files of cyprians are in the habit of rendezvousing there and parading between the House and Senate, and in the lobbies thereof, calling out members, making assignations for the future and loans for the past, and so completely signalizing the place that it is at her peril that a good woman walks alone in the Capitol.

A couple of days ago I saw a crowd in the office of a Justice of the Peace, and within was a woman swearing out a warrant against Mrs. Lucy Cobb, for inveigling her husband. This woman Cobb, whom you will remember as attaining a great deal of notoriety as a pardon-broker in 1866, is now an ubiquitous personage, famous for her physical measurements, a fine vulgar being, and she makes the Capitol her shambles. The crowd around one of the side doors was astonished, some time ago, to see emerge from the House of Representatives a grave and portly Democratic member, with a card in his hand.

"Did you send this card?"—to a woman.

"Yes."

"What do you want with me, calling me out of the House of Representatives every day?"

"I want to say something privately to you, Mr. Crawfish."

"I'll tell you what I think of you. You're a [it's of no consequence—copiously emphasized]—and I'll have you sent to jail if I ever hear of you again!"

Panic overtook the lobby at this door. It was a scene such as occurs in Murder Bay sometimes, but hardly under the Capitol.

Among the harridans who lobby for some consideration at the Capitol is one respectable looking old matron, who presents herself with two or three young girls, sends in the name, and when the member comes out she introduces the young ladies, saying: "I live at such a number; here is my card. You must come and call on these young ladies, my nieces."

The member goes, perhaps, to see the interesting young ladies, compromises himself, and votes for the old lady's bill. It is needless to say that the supposed young nieces are a parcel of common women whom the old lady has dressed up for the occasion.

THE HOLY LAND.

Condition of the Israelites of Palestine.

To the Editor of the New York Times:

A few days since there appeared a paragraph in your estimable journal relating to a Jewish Rabbi as having come all the way from Palestine to lay the grievances of his people, who are said to be suffering oppression at the hands of the Ottoman Government, and asking the aid and protection of the United States. As there is an intimation, also, that there might possibly be an organized effort on the part of the Israelites in their country to further the enterprise, will you permit me to offer a few remarks on the subject?

Ever since the first war of Independence, America has been regarded as the champion of liberty, and more than ever since the quelling of the recent rebellion. Hence, even nationalities on the other side of the globe are longing to nestle under the wing of the eagle of liberty, which they imagine overshadows the remotest ends of the earth. Heretofore, those who have been in a state of revolution, like Greece, Poland, Hungary, etc, have looked to America for aid and sympathy; but now, because the lands in which their lot has been cast are not teeming with public enterprise and rapid prosperity like America, communities who are suffering are induced to make similar appeals.

The last application of the United States Government is from a Jewish Rabbi from Jerusalem, who is anxious to secure American protection of the Sultan in the Turkish dominions, viz., the Jews of Palestine.

Of late the question of the oppression of the subjects of the Porte, civil and religious, has been thoroughly ventilated, both in Europe and America, and the simple truth has repeatedly thwarted the machinations of diplomatists and the schemes of individual speculation. We need only refer to the recent expose in the Cretan affair, which must be fresh in the mind of the public. The spirit of civilization and a superiority of wealth have imbued the hearts of the Chief Magistrate of the United States and the people with a generous sympathy. How often have their loaded ships sailed from these shores to the relief of the destitute and suffering! But for a Jewish Rabbi or any other delegate from a foreign land to ask the United States Government to enthrone a Consul as ruler over any portion of the subjects of the Sultan, or of any other sovereign, is simply preposterous.

The Israelites of Turkey should be the last to murmur against the Government under which they live; for while the other subjects of the Porte have been conquered they have fled to Turkey and there found refuge from persecutions in a Catholic land which threatened to annihilate them.

The stigma which Christianity itself has inflicted upon the Jewish race has hitherto made the Jew a by-word in all lands. But the christianity of the nineteenth century exhales an atmosphere of liberty and equality which pervades the world, and Jews and Gentiles, Turks and Greeks are invigorated into a new consciousness of humanity and life, and all these appeals to freedom are but the throes of regeneration. Hence it is unjust to say the present condition of the Israelites of Turkey is the fault of the Government. Moreover, the Israelites of Turkey, of whom there are about 20,000 in Palestine and 150,000 in the whole Empire, are not fair representatives of the race. Unlike their brethren in Europe and America, they are ignorant and bigoted and treacherous. If the friends, then, of these miserable and "suffering" people are truly desirous of doing them practical good, they should leave imaginary grievances aside, and at once endeavor to educate them. In doing so, they will also second the efforts of the Government itself, whose liberal policy extends to all the varied nationalities which compose the Empire.

DREADFUL!

Five Children Poisoned in Pittsburg.

From the Pittsburg Post, 10th.]

One of the most distressing cases of accidental poisoning that it has recently been our duty to record is detailed below: Five children, three of them the children of Mr. George M. Miller, formerly Superintendent of the Allegheny Water Works, and two the children of Mrs. Schwartzwelder, are the victims, and one of them, George Grant Miller, a little boy four years and five months old, died yesterday morning at the home of his parents, 97 Water street. On Saturday morning, it appears, the five children were playing together in the yard attached to the house. The yard also belonged to several other houses. One of the children picked up what he supposed to be a piece of liquorice, and which he divided among his playmates.

A short time after eating the stuff the children came into the house where Mrs. Miller, observing something peculiar in their actions, questioned them and discovered the supposed finding of the liquorice. From their appearance the lady concluded something was wrong, which was confirmed in a few minutes by one of the children, little Georgie suddenly falling to the floor in convulsions. As quickly as possible physicians were sent for, and in response Drs. Mason and Rankin came to the house. They at once, from the symptoms, pronounced it a case of poisoning, and administered every available remedy, but without affording any relief to the principal sufferer. He lay from the time of calling in the physicians—about noon Saturday—until seven o'clock yesterday morning, all the time unconscious and working in spasms until death came to his relief. The other children revived somewhat under medical treatment, and yesterday were considered out of danger.

One of them handed to the physician a small piece of the stuff which had been eaten, and which, upon examination, proved to be belladona, one of the most virulent poisons. Subsequently another small piece of the stuff was picked up in the yard at the place where the children had been playing.

Coroner Clawson was notified of the sad occurrence and empanneled a jury yesterday morning, but adjourned the inquest until six o'clock this evening.

THE SOROSIS.

The Last Spree of our Literary Sisters.

The Men Nowhere—Tea and Toast—No Whisky.

From the New York Sunday Mercury.]

AT SUPPER.

At 7 p.m. the gong sounded for supper, and in thirty seconds the guests settled at the table like a flock of reed birds at the side of a country brook. The newspaper veterans like Ottarson, Simonton and Stitson looked at the tea-caddy in dismay, and glanced about the room as if something necessary was lacking. No rum, however, was served. The veterans sipped the tea as if they were in torture, and said nothing. The courses were brought on rapidly, and the viands disappeared like magic. Teal, sausage, ham, peas, oysters, blanc mange, ice cream, bananas, and cranberry sauce, all traveled the same road with fearful rapidity.

THE SPEECHES—JENNIE JUNE OPENS THE BALL.

At 8 p.m. Mrs. Croly sprang to her feet and spitefully knocked on the table with a silverplated fork, David G., who was laughing with a golden-haired sprite at the second table to her right, stopped talking in an instant, and shivered upon his chair, like a schoolboy who had been caught whispering. In a few words, Mrs. Croly told the men that they would be required to hold their tongues, and listen to choice tit-bits of feminine wisdom. She then announced the first toast of the evening: "The Coming Man," and called on Fanny Fern Parton to respond. Fanny blushed, and sent a roll of manuscript up to Mrs. Croly, who read it to the audience amid frantic cheers. It was an old Ledger tirade on the masculines, for which Robert Bonner paid $100 per column.

THE COMING WOMAN.

The second toast was "The Coming Woman." It was answered by Mrs. Andrew Jackson Davis, who wandered amid the mysterious spherical orbs swinging in the boundless immensity of space, and shook her legs in the awful corridors of time for fifteen minutes, when she subsided, amid a shower of fork knocks. The Bohemians stood the shock bravely, though a few gave signs of somnolent distress.

MEN AND THEIR BUTTONS.

This was the third toast. Mrs. Clara Nicholson gave it to the boys hot and heavy. The sleepy ones passed up their teacups, and laughed heartily. Buttons were things that they appeared to understand. Mrs. Nicholson, however, gave them new light on the subject, and her remarks were relished accordingly.

At the conclusion of her speech, Miss Josephine Pollard read a poem, in which she intimated that she was soon to be married. The intellectual Billy Swinton, who sat at her side, blushed like a maiden of sixteen as she took her seat. It was thought that she stood upon one of his corns during the delivery of her poem.

HOW BURLEIGH CAUGHT IT.

Mrs. Croly announced the next toast, "The Newspaper Man from a Domestic Point of View," which was responded to by Mrs. Wm. H. Buleigh. She uncorked a bottle of literary assafœtida, and flung the liquid over all the gentlemen present. During the delivery of the speech every man appeared as if he had just been struck by lightning. Burleigh himself looked as if he had been before Judge Bowling, and had been given six months on the island. The speech was a scorcher, and rubbed off a good deal of cuticle.

HEROIC WOMEN AND BABIES.

"The Heroic Women" was the next toast. Mrs. Charlotte Wilbour, wife of Byron-collared Charley, of the Transcript, responded. Ottarson and Knox went to sleep during the delivery of the speech, but both woke up when Mrs. Wilbour made a casual reference to Margaret of Burgundy. "Yes," they both remarked in a breath, "a little Burgundy and some ice in it. No attention being paid to their request, their eyelids again closed, and they were not again awakened until the close of the banquet.

NIGHT DROPS HER CURTAIN.

"The Babies—God bless them," was the next toast. In response, Mary Kyle Dallas read one of her newspaper articles. It appeared that she had once been a baby, and a very handsome one, unusually apt and intelligent. She had many a good spanking. Other speeches followed from Mrs. Agnes Noble, Madame Demorest, Ida Greeley, and others. At midnight the party separated with songs of bliss and visions of heavenly rest. They were received at the door by a host of hungry cabmen, who dropped them at their residences at the legal rates of fare, strictly in advance.

CABINET CHANGES.

Sumner and Stanton the Coming Men.

Washington Dispatch to New York Herald.]

Changes in the Cabinet continue to be discussed with great freedom among the politicians now here. Senator Sumner, it is said, is casting his eyes toward the State Department, and Edwin M. Stanton is spoken of for the Treasury Department by prominent Radicals, who, while they are satisfied with Boutwell's politics, think he lacks force. Sumner, in conversation with a gentleman a few days ago, said that if the country demanded his services in the State Department he could not refuse, although, if his own wishes were consulted, of course he did not want the place. Notwithstanding this modest disclaimer, it is said by those who know Sumner best that he would really take the State Department if it were offered him. Stanton has a great idea of his ability to manage the finances, and had he been offered the place at the outset there is good reason to believe he would have accepted it. It is said that the hue and cry gotten up by the Radical press about the Cabinet had for its ultimate object the displacement of some of the present Cabinet officers to make way for more pronounced Radicals, like Sumner and Stanton. I learn from the best sources that no member of the Cabinet intends to retire just at present, certainly not before the meeting of Congress next winter. They say the positions sought them and not they the positions; that some of them accepted at the earnest request of the President, and that whenever he indicates that their resignations are necessary to insure the success of his administration they will be forthcoming. They do not propose, however, to be frightened into resigning by what they term newspaper clamor.

BUTTER.

THE

ECONOMY BUTTER CO

Ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years ago an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for the sale in this country are the exclusive property of this company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st. That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d. That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless for general use, by the aid of this Extract is restored to its original freshness and sweetness, fine grain and even color.

3d. By the use of this Extract, one pound of delicious, fresh Butter is actually made from one pint of milk.

4th. That a pure and excellent table Butter can be made, at a cost of from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The chief expense wherein being Butter, which is the essential base.

5th. That Butter manufactured by the aid of this Extract is equal in every respect to the best Butter made by the ordinary method.

6th. The Extract, after thorough analysis, by able chemists, is pronounced perfectly free from any deleterious substance, the ingredients being purely of a vegetable nature.

7th. In proof of the foregoing assertions, the factory of this company is making one ton of Butter per day, which meets with ready sale in the New York market, and is consumed from the tables of the first hotels, restaurants and private families in this city and elsewhere.

A sample package of the EXTRACT (sufficient to make fifty pounds of Butter), with full directions for use, will be sent to any address on the receipt of $1.

CAUTION.—As all articles of real merit are subject to spurious imitations, we would specially caution the public against counterfeits and worthless imitations, advertised as powders, compounds, etc., as the Extract of the Butter Plant is prepared and sold only by

OUR SUNDAY PAPER.

We remind our advertising friends that to-morrow we publish the most interesting of all our issues—the SUNDAY APPEAL—and that we will be ready for any quantity of such favors for its columns as they can extend and as we find profitable, especially at this season of the year.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

We continue to-day the Supreme Court decisions, synopsized for the APPEAL by Mr. H. CLAY KING. They are invaluable to the members of the bar, and have, so far, met the approval of the bench. They will appear in our weekly edition for the benefit of lawyers in the country.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR OUR GUESTS.

We have been requested to urge upon our citizens the importance of all who can do so promptly notifying the Committee of Arrangements what number of persons to attend the Convention they can entertain. But a few days can elapse before the guests will arrive. It will not do to begin to make arrangements for them just when they are on our threshold. Now is the time. We hope that without farther delay our housekeepers will prepare and notify the committee before Monday the number they can accommodate and when they will be ready. If the ladies will interest themselves in it we are satisfied this matter will have immediate attention.

THE G. A. R. FOR STOKES.

We learn from the Nashville Press and Times, of Thursday, that the Tennessee Convention of the G. A. R., lately in session in that city to elect delegates to the General Convention of the order, now in session in Cincinnati under the Presidency of JOHN LOGAN, passed a resolution unanimously recommending STOKES as the most eligible of the Radical candidates for Governor. This is the finishing touch to SENTER'S career. It is the blow that knocks him out of time. We regard his retiracy from the political arena as a foregone conclusion. He had an opportunity of making for himself a great reputation; he has allowed it to pass, preferring to rule for a while as a king of the commons than to be recognized as a peer among the best. STOKES has received the votes of the so-called old soldiers of the army, and the negroes, and doubtless, as we hinted last week, has private assurances from BROWNLOW.

JUDGE SWAYNE WITHDRAWS.

By request of Judge SWAYNE we make room for the following communication, from which it will be seen that he is no longer a candidate for the Criminal bench. In thus withdrawing from the canvass we think the Judge sets an example that might be followed with profit to the Democratic party by all who have advanced claims for office, and who pretend to be friends of the disfranchised people of our State. Here is the note:

MEMPHIS, May 14, 1869.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

My name having been withdrawn from the Convention, I supposed my announcement would also have been withdrawn as a candidate for re-election to the Criminal Court bench. This, I find, on my return from a temporary absence, is not done. Please do it, and allow me to return my thanks to my friends (including, as I believe, eight-tenths of this good people, with whom I have lived over twenty years, and who desired my re-election, and thought it due as much to the State, the Bench and themselves under the circumstances of my displacement, as to myself.) Without any agency or influence by me at the primary meetings or through the delegates, I received within five of a majority over all others, and, only by a marked effort did the nomination fail. J. T. SWAYNE.

THE SHOOTING OF TOLES.

A negro who passes in this city by the name of Doctor TOLES, and who has lately been very industrious in the interest of the Lewis Radicals, while standing upon the platform of the railroad depot at Collierville, in this county, was shot night before last by some person unknown. It seems that he had accompanied the Registrar for the purpose of superintending the registration of the negroes of his branch of his party, and during the day was much abused by the Hunter negroes who threatened him. There was no interference with him or his kind by white men, nothing that could lead to an assault upon him, and it is reasonable to suppose that the shot which wounded him was fired by one of his own color, of the HUNTER wing of the Radical party. We are well satisfied that such a deed would not be perpetrated by any of the respectable residents of Collierville, a village that enjoys as fair a reputation for order and peace as any of its size and importance in the Union. The Evening Post, ever ready to make capital against the best interests of this community, falsely asserts that this attempt upon TOLES' life was made by a white man, while the general testimony of all who were present at the time, goes to prove that the shot was not heard, and that none knew of it until TOLES himself made it known. Is it not possible that from the position in which TOLES was sitting when he received the wound, that the shot came from his own pistol? Any way, we hope the matter will be made the subject of investigation, for we can never hope for growth or prosperity until even such creatures as TOLES can go freely to any part of the State, upon any errand that will not bring them in contact with the civil law.

EXPOSE OF CORRUPTION.

We have before us a pamphlet, headed "Number Two, Expose of Corruption and Fraud of the Former Leaders of the Republican Party," professing to issue from the Republican Central Committee of Shelby County. We have looked through it sufficiently to make ourselves acquainted with its contents, and to realize that it is all that its title claims for it—an expose of corruption and fraud. We were not at first disposed to give the statements it contains much credence, remembering how corrupt the source whence this pamphlet issues, remembering, too, that the odor of sanctity does not cling to the garments of its authors, and that, at the best, it is but another illustration of the homely adage of the "pot calling the kettle black." A great deal of what it contains is only constructive larceny, and what is not of that category has already been ventilated through the Democratic press at a time when Judge HUNTER and his negro supporters were hand-in-glove with those they now so loudly condemn. It is none of our funeral. They can "go in" on each other—these Hunterites and Lewisites—and need not fear that anything they can say of each other will be half as bad as the truth as the white people of the county and city believe it. They are all of the same stripe—six of one and half a dozen of the other—no choice between them. They are after office, have no other business here. Has not HUNTER put himself upon the record; did he not say, according to LEWIS and the Post: "What the hell do we care for the State if we can't hold office?" To hold office, that is his errand in our midst. It is not because he desires to help in the real interests of the people that HUNTER and his committee issue this pamphlet. He or they care nothing for the people. It is issued, as its closing pages confess, in the interest of WILLIAM T. HUNTER, of whose conduct as Judge of the Criminal Court it was hoped the Grand Jury would be able before this thoroughly to inform the public. That thievery and unblushing roguery has characterised the Radical party we are satisfied, and have satisfied our readers long since, without once quoting HUNTER or going beyond the official documents on file here and in Nashville. One of these published by us in extenso, on Wednesday, gives some figures in regard to the cost of Judge HUNTER'S Court, which we think needs explanation. Until they can be explained away satisfactorily we think he had better cease to press his claims for election to an office that he should not even aspire to. Discourse ever so glibly of the corruptions of his fellow-Radicals, HUNTER cannot distract the attention of the tax-payers of Shelby county from his misdeeds as a Radical politician, his shortcomings and alleged corruptions as a Judge, and his notorious affiliation with those whose dues should be meted by him in their consignment to the penitentiary.

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—Arrived: Robert E. Lee. Departed: Virginia, for Louisville.

ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—A movement is on foot to protect the river marine from fire and river piracy. The plan is to procure an iron clad tug with power to tow from the levee the largest steamers in case of fire, and to have a powerful steam fire engine on her ready for use at a moments notice. The tug is to ply up and down the harbor day and night, and to have locomotive headlights at the bow, stern and midships, so arranged that they will illuminate almost the entire harbor or can be darkened at will. The insurance and marine interests will probably furnish the tug and the police authorities man her. It is also prosed to license and register all skiffs and small boats plying in the harbor as a preventative of river piracy, which is carried on extensively.

A delegation of the prominent business men appointed by the President of the Merchants' Exchange left for Memphis this evening to attend the Commercial Convention to be held there on the 18th inst.

Intelligence from Wind River Valley states that on the 9th about thirty Indians made a dash on the settlers and killed Wm. Rhodes, F. Moorhouse, and a German and a Frenchman, whose names are unknown, and drove off 100 head of cattle and horses. There is much excitement in consequence, and the farmers are abandoning their work and farms and leaving for more secure parts. It is supposed that the Indians were Bannocks.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14.—A message was received from the Governor notifying the House of the resignation of 42 of the members.

Mr. Osborn, Republican, then moved to adopt the joint resolution ratifying the 15th amendment.

Mr. Coffroth, Democrat, objected, making a point of order that there was not a quorum present.

The Chair ruled that this question could not be considered.

An appeal was then taken by Mr. Coffroth, but the decision of the Speaker was sustained, and the House passed the joint resolution by a vote of 51 to none. Two Democrats and one Republican refused to vote.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Advices from Lexington, Va., state that considerable apathy exists among the people in the valley concerning the coming election. In many counties the precincts are so arranged that a considerable distance has to be traversed to get to the registration office or the polls, and many will refuse to trouble themselves so much as to register, and consequently will not vote in that section. The crop prospects are reported as good, and the wheat crop, which is the largest on record, is said to be from one end of the valley to the other, and the anticipated yield is enormous. Tobacco is flourishing(?)

Admiral Hoff writes to the Department from Havana to the 6th, announcing that he would be absent from that port for a few days, to relieve the Narragansett at Key West, and for a change of air for the officers and crew. He had just received information from Commander Brown that the steamer Salvador, a supposed Cuban privateer, that our naval forces have been watching for some time at the instance of the Government, has cleared for St. Thomas, via Nassau, without arms or munitions of war of any description.

Everything at Havana is remarkably quiet, and the Spanish authorities seem confident of suppressing the rebellion before the expiration of the year. The season that is now coming on precludes the possibility of any active operations of any importance by either party in the interior for the present.

In conversing with the Cubans, who were at one time sanguine of success, Admiral Hoff says those on the Havana end of the Island are dissatified from the fact that the revolution has not been conducted in a manner to coincide with their views, and that there is little or no organization among them, though they claim that the cause of their present inactivity is owing to the fact that their forces are being exercised and instructed in the use of arms, preparatory to a campaign at the close of the ensuing season. Gens. Cespedas and Quesada are acting independently and have their own separate forces and adherents. Mr. Hall, our Consul General, and the commander of the English fleet, seem to think that the insurgents are being crushed, and that in a few weeks it will consist of nothing but irregular bands of outlaws scattered throughout the interior.

A letter from a Treasury officer at Beaufort, S. C., states that the steamer Grapeshot, bound from New York for Falmouth, Jamaica, put in there for repairs on the 27th ult., and as she was laden with arms and munitions of war, and had 36 passengers, the Collector of Beaufort telegraphed to Collector Grinnell, at New York, and received a reply that the Grapeshot was regularly cleared for Falmouth, and consequently she was not detained. A few days after this a new Collector was appointed at Beaufort, and he was urged by Capt. Usher, of the Revenue service, to investigate the matter, and he replied that it had been thoroughly inquired into by his predecessor, and therefore declined to do so, and on the 12th of May the Grapeshot still lay there.

A delegation of prominent citizens of Virginia, representing the Conservative interest of that State, and accompanied by S. D. Washington, waited on the President this morning and had a short interview in regard to the adoption of the State Constitution, and especially to ask that the clause relating to county officers be submitted to the people separately, in the same way as the test oath and disability clauses.

A proclamation has been prepared and will be issued to-morrow, fixing the 6th day of July for the election in Virginia. It also provides for the submission of the Constitution with separate votes on the disability and test oath clauses, but no others.

There is no doubt but that the President to-day determined to appoint Dan Sickles as Minister to Spain, and his commission will soon be prepared.

A number of vessels, at different ports, suspected of being in the Cuban interest, are being watched closely by the revenue cutters and naval forces, as the assurance has been given that the Government will enforce the neutrality laws.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Marshall Barlow expresses the opinion that no regular organized, armed and equipped expedition has sailed from this port for Cuba since the commencement of the Cuban troubles. He believes that many men since the commencement of the insurrection have taken passage from this port for Cuba, perhaps to assist the rebels, and much war material has also been shipped to the island, but ostensibly as freight regularly consigned, and that most of the men went singly or in small parties and the arms in small quantities by various vessels, and that this is all the truth there is in the sensational reports about Cuba.

THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

NAVIGATION COMPANY

OF THE

SOUTH AND WEST.

To the Owners of Real Estate in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas:

THE COMPANY KNOWN TO THE PUBLIC as the "Mississippi Valley Navigation Company of the South and West," is organized under a charter from the State of Louisiana. This charter authorizes a capital stock of five hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of extension to one million. That the public may know the exact object of the Company, the third article of the charter is given entire, as follows:

"The object of this Company is to construct or otherwise to procure and maintain one or more steamboats, or other vessels, to run on and navigate the Mississippi river, or its tributaries, for the purpose of carrying freight, mails and passengers; to construct docks, wharves, buildings and such other constructions as may be necessary to the building and repairing of vessels, and generally to exercise such incidental powers and privileges as are hereby or may be conferred on them for the purposes aforesaid."

The Company propose, under the provisions of this charter to construct a line of steamers to run between the different ports on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. They will be constructed upon the low-pressure principle; they will carry less steam; they will make better time, and be in all respects more safe than any description of boats ever placed upon our waters. Divided into distinct compartments, if disaster, whether by fire or snags, shall happen to one, the boat is not endangered. In case of fire, apparatus for turning steam upon it will be provided, and it is demonstrated that steam is the most effective extinguisher of fire. In case one compartment is broken through by contact with snags, and fills with water, the others are not endangered, and the boat cannot sink, as pumps, provided for such an emergency, will be in instant operation. Safety to passengers and freight is a great end, worthy of the struggle of the people of the Mississippi Valley.

Nearly three hundred thousand dollars in money and work has already been subscribed to the capital stock of the Company. The Louisiana Legislature has passed a bill subscribing one hundred thousand dollars of stock to the Company. An additional sum of that amount will, without a doubt, be subscribed by the same body. The Company have resolved to take lands for stock, and this is the feature to which they desire to call the attention of owners of real estate. In the Southern States, on account of the disorganized condition of labor, lands are an incumbrance. Vast tracts that yield no revenue to the proprietors, pay exorbitant taxes, and thus cripple their only productive resources. This Company propose to take these lands at a fair valuation and issue to the owners their stock in lieu. If lands shall enhance in value, so will the stock enhance in value, and thus the land proprietor will carry in his pocket the equivalent of his lands, to be converted into money or property without delay. The success of this great enterprise is beyond question. The stockholder, in addition to the benefit of the enhanced value of his lands, will be part owner of a line of boats, and be entitled to dividends in their earnings.

Persons wishing to exchange lands for the stock of the Company will send to the Agent at Memphis a description of them, their productive qualities, the timber, bottom or upland; whether overflowed or not; if overflowed, what proportion; how near to county-town, to railroad, depot, river, and all facts necessary to afford the Company a satisfactory idea of the land. This may be done by certificates of reliable, disinterested persons residing in the neighborhood. The present actual value of the land may be proved in the same manner. The party offering lands must state in his proposition the lowest figures he will take. The Company will not give exorbitant prices. The titles must be unencumbered by judgments, mortgages, deeds of trust, tax titles, or otherwise. This may be shown by official certificates of judges, clerks, sheriffs, or the opinions of respectable attorneys. This is believed to be the best opportunity to dispose of surplus lands in the South and West that has yet been or can be offered.

Many of the best and wealthiest citizens of the South and West are warmly embarked in the enterprise. The General Headquarters of the Company are in New Orleans, but agencies exist in all the principal cities. The enterprise has been endorsed by Underwriters, Chambers of Commerce, Engineers, Mechanics, practical navigators, and all classes of practical men.

The foregoing facts are submitted to the public in the confident belief that they will be understood and appreciated.

F. Y. ROCKETT, Agent at Memphis.

The Great Sale of Suburban Lots

—IN THE—

BUNTYN AND TREZEVANT TRACTS

Five Miles from the City,

On Memphis and Charleston Railroad,

ON THURSDAY, MAY 20.

To this sale we specially direct the attention of those who would make a pleasant combination of city and country life. We shall offer about ONE HUNDRED LOTS, varying in size from 5 to 10 acres, many of them directly upon the Railroad, and none of them more than the distance of a few minutes walk to a regular flag station upon the Road, giving the business and professional men, who follow their vocation in the city, the advantage of a retired and economical residence on a few acres of land in the country, with the loss of but little more time, and at much less expense in money, than to live on a few feet of ground in any part of the city. The different trains now running in and out of the city on this road, afford the opportunity of ingress and egress to and from the city every two or three hours during the day. Commutation tickets are sold to all the stations included in the lands offered in this sale at from 10 to 12½ cents, and the trip is made to the most distant point in 15 minutes from the city depot. Terms will be exceedingly liberal, the object being to induce the immediate settlement of the lands by a good population. Plans of the lands now at our office. The Avenues and Lots will be indicated, so that parties wishing to make examinations can do so with no other guide than a plan in their hands. The locality of the lands embraced in this sale has always been highly popular for its health and beauty, and the neighborhood is rapidly filling up with the best society.

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—

RESIDENCE LANDS

—ON THE—

Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad

—AND—

Farm Lands and Fisheries on President's Island.

DESIRING to dispose of a portion of my real estate I will offer at public sale through Messrs. Royster, Trezevant & Co., Auctioneers, on THURSDAY, THE 27TH DAY OF MAY next, upon the premises, thirty Suburban Lots, 5 to 20 acres each, situated on the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad, about four miles south of Memphis, on Nonconnah Heights. I invite from such as wish to buy a particular inspection of these beautiful lands, which will be found to possess in an eminent degree the attractions of picturesque grounds, fine soil, noble forest trees and pure water from never failing springs. Half hour's time will suffice to reach the property from Court Square by the daily trains of the road, which pass to and from the city at short intervals, giving free access to the business, the schools and churches of the city. The wood upon the land will yield one hundred dollars clear profit to the acre.

I will also offer at public sale on THURSDAY, JUNE 3, at the house of the Auctioneers, northeast corner of Main and Jefferson streets, 500 acres, in tracts of 50 to 100 acres, on President Island, just below the city, nearly all above overflow, heavily timbered with ash and walnut and other forest growth. The land is of unsurpassed fertility, and accessible at all seasons by steamboats. A ready market may be found for every cord of wood cut upon the land. A feature of great value in this property is the well known Lake, which affords the finest fisheries in this part of the world. The fish and game privileges on this lake may be made very valuable in supplying the Memphis market. Plans made by Messrs. Robinson & Moon, Civil Engineers, can be seen at the office of the Auctioneers, and the lands will be shown by them or myself, by appointment, at any time before the day of sale.

Terms of Sale—Half cash, balance one and two years with interest, retaining lien.

A. BALDING'S

DOUBLE ACTING SUBMERGED

FORCE PUMP,

PATENTED AUGUST 8, 1865.

MANY thousand of them have been tested during the past four years, and have proved a perfect success, as thousands of certificates could be produced; but I deem it unnecessary, as the Pump will show for itself, and prove all its qualities on examination.

It is a Pump which is ultimately destined to supersede all other Pumps now in use, for the simple fact—first, the cylinder is made of solid flint glass, and it undoubtedly will last one hundred years, and still be good as ever. Second, it will never give any bad taste to the water, or rust it. Third, it will never wear out, so as to put the working part out of order. Fourth, the Plunger working in glass, it will last as long as five in iron or wood. Fifth, the valves are made of glass, and are so placed that it is impossible for them to get out of order. Sixth, the conducting pipe is manufactured of wrought iron, galvanized inside and out making it perfectly free from rust. Seventh, no water stands in the pipe to get warm in summer or freeze in winter, and requires no priming to start it. Eighth, it is the best hand fire engine ever invented. It will force the water from any common well or cistern to the top of the highest dwelling, at the rate of twenty gallons per minute. Ninth, its whole construction is so simple and complete that renders it less liable to get out of order than any pump yet invented, and makes it the cheapest on the continent. When all its qualities are fully understood no one will be without it. It will save its cost in insurance, and many times save valuable property.

Having established a factory in the city of Memphis, Tenn., for the manufacture of these Pumps we are now prepared to furnish, at wholesale and retail, to all parties engaged, or wishing to engage in the business.

Prices for this Pump, Complete:

For Pump 16 feet long, $1 50 per foot.....$24 00
" 18 " " 1 50 " 27 00
" 20 " " 1 50 " 30 00
and fifty cents per foot for every additional foot.

☞ Agents wanted for this Pump, either to buy County Rights and sell the Pumps, on which a liberal discount will be given to the wholesale trade, and no charge for the right of Territory.

—Col. J. H. Patterson and Col. L. C. Gause, of Augusta, Ark., were in town yesterday, and did us the honor of calling at our office. They leave for home on the Liberty to-day.

—John Hawley, under bonds of $2000, to answer before 'Squire Norton to the charge of stealing a derringer pistol from C. M. Morrison, yesterday forfeited his bonds. His security was Mr. Wm. Miller, shoe dealer.

—We learn that Messrs. W. H. Burton & Co., practical printers, are about to start at Ashland, Ala., a weekly newspaper, to be called the Ashland Times We wish the new enterprise success.

—A man named John Davis was found making his way through a window into the Chickasaw club on Thursday, and was arrested and locked up in the Second District stationhouse. He was fined $25, yesterday, on charge of trespass.

—"Dr." Tolles went out to Collierville on Thursday, and as the train was returning to town that night he stepped out on the platform and was shot at. The ball hit him, not in a vital part, passing through the part where one of Marriatt's heroes was wounded.

—The following are the delegates appointed by the citizens of Nashville to represent them at the Commercial Convention: Byrd Douglas, John C. Burch, A. G. Adams, R. B. Cheatham, Geo. S. Allen, Thomas D. Craighead, Neil S Brown, and M. Burns.

—Our new postmaster, Josiah Deloach, Esq., yesterday received his commission from Gen. Grant, and will enter upon the duties of his office on Monday next. From his known fairness to all parties, in every position of life, we shall be disappointed if he does not make a most excellent postmaster.

—The house of Mr. Farre, on the corner of Madison and DeSoto streets, was entered on Thursday night by a thief, who pried open a window, and was robbed of a gold watch and chain, ten dollars in specie, some clothing and a note for one hundred dollars, signed by Mr. Trezevant.

—Our friend, John R. Durff of the Postoffice, was married in Louisville on Wednesday, 12th inst., to Miss Annie V. Day, of New Albany, Ind. He has returned to the city, and with his fair young bride is now stopping at the Overton Hotel. We wish that all his future days may be as fair and happy as the one he has just taken to him.

—Capt. Laz Isaacs gave Mr. Mose Norton some "lip" yesterday, and Mr. Norton punched the Captain's head. Coroner Samelson, with a picked jury, are ready to sit on Isaacs if he dies, and have the verdict already written out. It is as follows:

Laz he cussed Mr. Moses Norton.
An dat's de way the fuss was brought on,
As Laz vas foorst to begin de fight,
De chury say "it sarves him right."

—The Fort Smith Herald of the 8th inst. has a long and interesting expose of Upham's villainies in Arkansas. We were about to copy it, or make extracts from it as we saw that it was not credited, but on examination found that it was a report of the same facts detailed by the APPEAL several weeks before, and by a strange coincidence, couched in the very same language. The coincidence is the more remarkable as the Herald would not be guilty of appropriating any part of our report without crediting it.

—Winter still lingers in the lap of Spring with a vengeance. Yesterday and the day before were real February days—days more fitted to the middle of May in the latitude of "ice-bound Labrador" than of the "Sunny South." The meteorology of this spring is without a parallel in the memory of that ubiquitous and sempiternous individual, "the oldest inhabitant." We doubt if there ever was just such a spring, and we sincerely hope there never will be. The idea of fires being necessary for comfort at midday on the thirteenth of May, on the 35th parallel!

—Our lady friends who desire to be up with the styles of the day, should look in upon our friend Day, the accomplished engraver, and examine his choice and elegant visiting and wedding cards, and other handsome evidences of his skill and taste. Our merchants and business men would also do well to look through Day's samples before ordering bill heads, letter heads, or business cards. He has a great many new designs, in fact is always up with the latest and best of New York, Paris or London. He for years ranked as a master of his art at the East, and still stands as high as the best. We bespeak for him a profitable patronage by our citizens who can find him every day at his office in the Bethel Block, Main street.

—A shooting affray occurred in Somerville on Thursday afternoon, between Mr. Walter Graham, well-known in this city, and a negro called Capt. Harris, which resulted in the death of Harris. We are informed by an eye witness that Mr. Graham was going into Ames' Circus, which was showing there, with his sister, an elegant young lady, and the negro Harris ran against her. Graham shoved him and said something to him, but passed on into the circus. After he came out, Harris, who it appears was hunting for a difficulty, went up to Graham and collared him. A young friend of Graham's interfered and jerked Harris off, and as soon as he did so Harris drew a pistol and fired at him. Graham by this time had drawn his weapon and fired on Harris, killing him instantly. Graham gave himself up and was to have had his examination yesterday, but we have not learned the result.

—To-morrow is Whitsunday, the Day of Pentecost, a solemn and joyous church festival commemorative of the endowment of the Disciples "with power from on high" on the Jewish feast of Pentecost. "On a sudden there came a sound from Heaven as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled the house where they were sitting and there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like as fire, and it sat upon, each of them, and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues (i. e. in different languages) as the Spirit gave them utterance." In the earlier ages of Christianity, baptism, except in cases of urgency, was administered only on Easter and at Whitsuntide, and the latter was the day of all days especially set apart, for "confirmation,"—a custom which, to a certain extent, obtains even now, and in accordance with which the Right Reverend Bishop Feehan will administer the rite of confirmation at St. Peter's Church to-morrow morning.

—A Frenchman named Leonard Blond, who has been working for sometime past for Comer & Richardson, at Moon's Landing, came to town yesterday and got on a spree. About midday, or between twelve and one o'clock, he drew between seven and eight hundred dollars from a safe where he had it deposited and went down Gayoso street. While standing on the corner of Shelby street, he drew the wallet containing the money out of his pocket, and as he did so, a black mackerel rushed up and seized it and made off. Several others were standing around, and, as Blond attempted to follow the thief, they knocked him down and beat him fearfully before the police could rescue him. Late yesterday evening the Second District police arrested a negro giving his name Bud or Sylvester Freeman on suspicion of being one of the parties. On his person they found a silver mounted cartridge pistol, some cogged dice, a dice box, a deck of cards, a "lock," and an express receipt for a sum of money just sent off, (the ink on it being quite fresh.) He was committed to jail to await an examination.

—A young man, who shall be nameless, on Thursday evening invited a couple of "young ladies," fair and frail, (metaphorically speaking, but as the sequel shows, anything but frail, in a physical point of view,) out driving. After taking a turn of the suburbs, the jolly party went to a beer garden and dismounted, to have some refreshments. While the young women were going into the beer, and vice versa, Mr. ——, well, we won't call names, got into his carriage and stepped off from his companions, leaving them to foot the bill, and afterwards foot their way home. To say that the "ladies" were furiously angry at the way they had been treated, when they found it out, would but feebly convey an idea of their rage. They just "rared" and charged, ripped and tore, and maybe they didn't cuss a few. How they finally got to town we were not informed, but they did get there, and immediately went to hunting for the youth who had served them the trick. They did not find him however until Thursday about noon near the Charleston Depot, and then maybe they didn't go for him! One of the fair damsels drawing and cocking a revolver, clapped it to his head, and told him to move at his peril, while the other producing from under her mantle a raw hide, lit into him, and for several minutes there was as lively a little tea-party as a man could want to see. The "gay deceiver" thinking discretion the better part of valor, stood still—or as still as he could, while the enraged female with the raw hide rained blows upon him like "Old Nick a beating tan bark." She laid it on well—how well we need not say—and did not stop until the police arrested them. They were carried to the First District and there fined $25 each yesterday morning. The young gentleman says that he never intends "shell-roading" another woman again as long as he lives.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW MEMPHIS.—We are happy to announce to our readers, all of whom are the lady's friends, that Mrs. Thompson's benefit last night was a triumphant success. The house was crowded and the whole performance passed off admirably. This was no more than we expected, and certainly no more than the lady merited at the hands of our people.

PERSONAL.

Hon Geo. W. Jones, for many years Democratic member of Congress from Iowa, is in our city on a brief visit to his son, and will attend the Commercial Convention as a delegate from his State. Gen. Jones was ever an earnest friend of his native South, and no one man ever worked harder or with more success than he did while a Senator, to develop the riches of the great West, and open up a track over her broad prairies for the iron horse. To him the State of Illinois owes her network of railroads, and to him Iowa is indebted for her thousands of miles of iron track. We welcome Gen. Jones to Memphis, and know that his presence will add much to the good we hope to attain by our Convention.

A CHALLENGE TO THE CHAMPION VELOCIPEDIST OF TENNESSEE—C. E. Morgan—Sir: I hereby challenge you for the championship and gold medal now in your possession. If possible, would like to have the race managed so as to come off on Saturday evening May 15. Very respectfully, A. W. TAYLOR.

COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.

Meeting of the Executive Committee Yesterday.

Adoption of Rules of Action, Etc.

The Executive Committee of the Commercial Convention, met yesterday evening at Willett's for organization. There were present, Col. John Donovan, Com. Montgomery, Jno. P. Robinson, Col. W. R. Moore, Capt. Lenow, Capt. Mellersh, M. B. Trezevant and Col. Beaumont.

On motion of Col. W. R. Moore, Capt. Lenow took the chair temporarily.

Capt. Lenow stated that the first business in order was selecting a Chairman of the Committee.

Col. Moore put in nomination Col. John Donovan, and, although Col. Donovan wished to decline, he was unanimously chosen.

Capt. Lenow, before vacating the chair to Col. Donovan, stated that Mr. Trezevant, jr., would represent the position of his father.

Mr. Donovan, thanking the Committee for the honor, and saying that he would have preferred to have worked under some one else than to have taken the position, said he did not feel at liberty to decline the duties thus thrust upon him.

The first thing in order was the election of a permanent Secretary of the Convention.

Col. Moore put in nomination Mr. M. B. Trezevant, also a gentleman recommended by Mr. Wiggin whose name he did not recollect.

Col. Donovan presented an application from Mr. Beamish for the position.

An election by ballot was then gone into and resulted in the choice of Mr. Trezevant on the third ballot.

Mr. Trezevant returned thanks and took his seat.

Col. Donovan called Capt. Lenow to the Chair, and then read the following sketch of the duties of the Executive Committee, and a general rule of actions governing it and the Convention. After reading it, it was laid by for further consideration, and it was moved that the Committee go into election of a Treasurer.

Mr. John P. Robinson stated that the Finance Committee had already provided a Treasurer and defined his duties. They had also appointed an Auditing Committee, whose duty it was to audit all bills before the Treasurer paid them. He also announced that Capt. Lenow was the Treasurer of the Finance Committee, and the Auditing Committee consisted of Capt. Lenow, James Elder and John P. Robinson.

On motion of Capt. George Mellersh, the Treasurer and Auditing Committee of the Finance Committee, as already named, were retained as permanent Treasurer and Auditing Committee, with duties as defined hereafter.

The committee then took up Col. Donovan's suggestions and discussed them seriatim with the following result:

The Executive Committee shall have full power to direct and control all affairs connected with the Commercial Convention. The various committees and officers already appointed shall report their actions and hereafter receive all instructions from the officers of said Executive Committee. A majority shall constitute a quorum. The officers shall be as follows:

1st. A chairman, who shall preside at all meetings, or in his absence the next member of the committee in the order named, whose duties shall be to decide all questions according to parliamentary usage.

2d. The duties of the Secretary shall be to keep in well-bound books a minute of the proceedings of the committee; also to keep a book for registering the names of delegates and their address; a book for the names of citizens who will lodge delegates, and discharge such other duties as may be imposed by the Executive Committee.

3d. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive all moneys collected and disburse the same after the accounts have been audited by the Auditing Committee.

4th. The headquarters of the committee shall be at J. H. Willett & Co.'s, No. 37 Adams street, up stairs. The headquarters will be designated by a large flag stretched across the street.

Commercial Convention.

To the Citizens of Memphis:

At a meeting of the several committees appointed to make arrangements for the holding of the Commercial Convention which opens in this city on Tuesday next, it was resolved to select a committee composed of the following gentlemen, chairmen of the various committees, to have a general supervision of all matters connected with the Convention.

The Executive Committee has been thoroughly organized, and the members of the committee are determined to do all in their power to make the Convention a decided success and a credit to our city. In order, however, to achieve this object, they require and must have the aid and support of every citizen. The citizens have already contributed in a liberal manner, but additional funds are required to entertain the large number of strangers who will visit our city during the coming week. Memphis has long been celebrated for her hospitality, and therefore the members of the Executive Committee have no hesitation in appealing to the citizens for additional funds to defray what will really be the necessary expenses of the Convention.

Books for subscriptions are now open at the headquarters of the Executive Committee, J. H. Willett & Co.'s, No. 37 Adams street (up stairs, second story), and it is hoped that the response will be liberal on the part of all those who have the future prosperity, welfare and good name of Memphis at heart. The subscriptions will be duly acknowledged through the press.

Joseph Lenow, W. R. Moore,
George Mellersh, Flem Calvert,
J. B. Robinson, J. T. Trezevant,
Wm. M. Farrington.
JOHN DONOVAN, Chairman.
M. B. TREZEVANT, Secretary.

OWING to the evenings at the Theater being previously engaged, the pupils of Miss Clemmons' music class will give their Concert in a suitable hall as soon as arrangements can be effected. We understand the object of the young ladies is to present their teacher with a piano, as a tribute of gratitude and high appreciation of her untiring energy and never wearying patience in imparting to them one of earth's most enchanting arts. Mr. Goepel has kindly offered the young ladies one of his best pianos for their use during the evening.

SUPREME COURT.

Condensed Decisions of the Supreme Court, May term, 1869, Reported for the Appeal by H. Clay King, Esq.

No. 20. E. W. Porter et al. vs. John R. Jones, from the Hardin Chancery Court. The defendant, Jones, purchased of one Thomas Peay a promissory note for $2300, purporting to be made by Robt. Hardin, for which Jones paid Peay $2000. Hardin denied having executed the note, and pronounced it a forgery. Thereupon Jones procured a warrant from a magistrate and had Peay arrested on a charge of forgery. While Peay was in the custody of an officer it was agreed between him and Jones and the complainants, E. W. Porter and W. H. Cherry, that Porter and Cherry should give to Jones their joint note for $1000, and that in consideration thereof that Jones should direct the release of Peay from custody. From the circumstances the Court is forced to the conclusion that the compounding of the felony was the real consideration of the note. Upon the execution of the note Peay was released by order of Jones, and has never again been arrested or prosecuted. Jones commenced an action at law in the Circuit Court, in which three mistrials have been had, in consequence of the failure of the juries to agree upon a verdict. The defendants in an action at law filed this bill in Chancery, alleging substantially the above facts, and that the note is void for illegality of consideration; "that without a discovery of some of the facts in relation to said illegal contract from Jones, which are exclusively within his knowledge and the knowledge of complainant, their defense is greatly trammeled, and a decision in a court of law upon said cause is not likely to be obtained, and complainants are greatly annoyed and harrassed by the prosecution of said suit."

The prayer of the bill is that the suit at law be perpetually enjoined and for general relief.

The defendants to the bill demurred, and assigned two causes of demurrer; 1st. The existence of an unembarrassed remedy at law; and 2d. That the complainants were equally guilty in the illegal transaction, and not entitled to any relief in equity.

Held, Andrews, Judge, delivering the opinion of the Court: That a note whose consideration is the compounding of a felony, is absolutely void. Vincent vs. Groom, 1 Yer. 430.

The defect in a remedy at law may be either in some obstruction to the proceedings of the Court of law, which the aid of a Court of equity is required to remove; or it may be in the want of power in a Court of law to give its final, complete and adequate relief, which is within the power of a Court of Chancery. The latter defect is equally with the former a ground of chancery jurisdiction. If the complainant's case rests wholly upon the necessity for discovery, to enable him to make his defense at law, then he must show by his bill that such discovery is material to his defense. But if the relief to which he is entitled is substantive relief beyond that which a Court of law can give upon full proof of all the facts, then he need not allege the necessity of discovery as a ground of jurisdiction. Almony vs. Hicks, 3 Head., 42

In the class of cases embracing the present one, the relief afforded by perpetually enjoining the prosecution of suits upon the void instrument, and by decreeing it to be delivered up and canceled, is deemed more efficacious and complete than any that can be offered by a Court of law. It is true, that a final judgment for the defendant in a court of law in a suit upon such instrument, would be a complete settlement of the case, and would preclude the necessity to the defendant of further relief in regard to it. But the plaintiff, the payee, may not choose to commence such a suit. He may harass the defendant, the maker of the instrument, with threats of litigation for an indefinite period, within the statute of limitations. Or, if a suit be already commenced, the plaintiff may not only harass the defendant during the progress of the suit, but may at his pleasure withdraw it for the purpose of again selecting his tribunal and his time for the commencement of new litigation. 2 Story Eq., sections 699, 700.

Equity will decree the cancellation of void instruments though they be void on their face. Jones vs. Revy, 10 Yer. 59; Almony vs. Hicks, 3 Head. 41; Johnson vs. Cooper, 2 Yer. 531; Hamilton vs. Cummings, 1 Johns. Ch. 522. Though this is denied by some of the authorities, 2 Story Eq., section 700, and cases there cited. But where the invalidity does not appear on the face of the instrument equity has jurisdiction unquestioned to decree cancellation, though a defense may be made at law. And this jurisdiction is not ousted by the fact that the holder of the instrument may have been more diligent in commencing his suit at law.

It is urged as an objection to the jurisdiction of the Chancery Court that the Circuit Court having first obtained jurisdiction of the case its right to determine it is exclusive, and cannot be interfered with by a Court of Equity. This principle is frequently applied in cases of conflict of jurisdiction between two independent and equal tribunals exercising jurisdictions of a similar nature. Such was the case of Taylor vs. Caryll, 20 How. 583.

But it has no application to a case like the present, where the jurisdiction of the one tribunal has its sole foundation in the inability of the other to do complete justice between the parties. Suits pending in courts of law are enjoined by process from courts of equity every day, and the prior jurisdiction of the legal tribunal has never been considered as an objection to the jurisdiction of equity. The relief sought in the Chancery Court is in its nature substantially different from the matter of defense set up in the court of law. We rest the jurisdiction in this case upon the capacity of a court of equity to afford more efficacious relief than a court of law can administer, and not upon the necessity for discovery.

The note is void for illegality, and any party to the transaction seeking a recovery upon it will be repelled from a court of justice. But will a court of equity, the parties to the note being particeps criminis, and in pari delicto in the illegal transaction, afford them active interposition to set aside and cancel the illegal contract? He who asks equity must do equity and those only shall receive the active aid of courts of justice who approach with clean hands; but while the rules of law which courts are bound to enforce in civil cases have reference primarily to the protection and enforcement of private rights, they are also subservient to the governing principle that the safety and best interests of the community are paramount to any private interest. Therefore it is that there are many cases in which were the rights or interests of the parties only concerned, courts would absolutely refuse them aid; yet, as the public good demands a decision upon their claims, the courts will entertain the cause and make the decision. The decree is made upon the facts and the law of the private right, but the community is a quasi party to the cause, and for the protection of the community courts may overlook the individual turpitude which has forfeited the private right and make such decision consistent with the public interests as they would have made had the party been innocent. From these principles it follows, and thus it has been held, that the active interposition of equity to set aside and cancel an illegal contract, is matter of sound discretion in the Court, and not of absolute right in the party.

The inquiry is, has the complainant made such a case as would, were he innocent, entitle him to relief; and if so, does the best interest of society require that relief shall be afforded, notwithstanding the guilt of the party? If not, then the Court will refuse its aid, and will leave the parties in whatever difficulties their conduct may have involved them. I do not deem it necessary to go into an extended analysis of authorities outside of our own State in regard to the general rule, which has been so often discussed by the courts of this country and of England. The rule is limited so far as this, that courts will not generally, perhaps never, unless under statutory provisions or when one of the guilty parties has been also the victim of outrageous fraud or oppression, interfere to set aside a sale or delivery of property or money which has been made and completely executed in the course of the illegal transactions. If one has freely parted with the title to or possession of property upon an illegal or immoral consideration, courts ordinarily consider the parties in equal guilt, and a guilty party being in pari delicto, shall never invoke the aid of the Courts to have it restored to him.

Much as the community is interested to discountenance immoral and illegal contracts, its interests will not be subserved by setting aside executed contracts and unsettling legal titles. Smith's Leading Cases, volume 1, page 638; Yerger V. Rains, 4; Hump. 260.

But where the illegal contract is still executory, and the public interests will be promoted by setting it aside, then, in the exercise of their sound discretion, courts of equity will grant relief. Judge Story states the rule thus: "In general (for it is not universally true) when parties are engaged in illegal agreements or other transactions, whether they are mala prohibita or mala in Le, courts of equity, following the rule of law as to participants in a common crime, will not at present interpose to grant any relief—acting upon the known maxim In pari delicto potior est conditio defendentis et possedentis. But in cases where the agreements or other transactions are repudiated on account of their being against public policy, the circumstance that the relief is asked by a party who is particeps criminis, is not in equity material. The reason is that the public interest requires that relief should be given, and it is given to the public through the party. 1st Equity Juris, section 298."

That these positions are sustained by the general current of authorities, I think is clear, and in considering them I have not overlooked the fact that decisions upon usurious securities and upon gaming contracts, have but a qualified authority. The reason that in the first the circumstances of necessity, or of oppression supposed to surround the borrower, have usually been supposed to relieve him from the imputation of being in pari delicto; and cases of gaming and wagering contracts are frequently accompanied by circumstances of outrageous fraud, and the decisions upon them are also more or less affected by considerations of the general policy of the statutes allowing property lost at gaming to be recovered back. But these two classes of cases aside, there is no lack of authority to sustain the principles above laid down. The first case occurring in our own reports is that of Johnson vs. Cooper, decided in 1831, by Judge Whyte. 2 Yerg. 524. In that case the complainant having staked a tract of land upon a game of cards and lost, conveyed it to the winner, and afterwards filed his bill for the purpose of setting aside the conveyance. The Court granted the relief, basing its decision apparently upon the policy of the statute which made void all gaming contracts and all conveyances of land or other property made to satisfy or secure money won by gaming. In Allen vs. Dodd, 4 Hump. 132; Yerg. vs. Rains, 4 Hump. 259; Smith vs. Stevens, 5 Sneed, 253; and in Simmons vs. Kincaid, 5 Sneed. 451, it is held that independently of statutory authority, property lost upon a wager or gaming contract, or sold in violation of law, cannot be recovered back by the loser or vender by interposition of the courts.

The bill in Weakly vs. Watkins, 7 Hump. 356, was filed by the maker of a note given upon consideration of an election wager, to have the note delivered up and canceled and to have a judgment which had been obtained thereon against the security to the note enjoined. It was held that relief could not be given upon the broad ground that equity would not aid either party to an illegal agreement. Judge Turley, who delivered the opinion of the Court, does so in very few words, and cites no authorities from our own State or elsewhere. Judge Turley says: "No Court of Chancery will entertain a bill to cancel an obligation, the consideration of which was a violation of chastity, compounding a felony, the smuggling of goods in violation of the revenue laws, gaming, false swearing, etc. In Giddons vs. Lea, 3 Hump. 133, a note was given by the complainant upon consideration of a wager, and a judgment thereon was recovered against the complainant after due notice, and appearance without any defense being interposed.

The bill was filed to enjoin the judgment, and the bill was dismissed in the Supreme Court upon the ground of the laches of complainant in failing to make defense at law. In Rucker vs. Wynne, 2 Head, 618, the bill was filed to have a gaming security delivered up and canceled. The security had been obtained from the complainant by the grossest fraud and imposition in connection with the gambling transaction. McKinney, J., delivered the decision of the Court in a careful and elaborate opinion, holding that on grounds of public policy the Court would interfere to set aside the security. Weakly vs. Watkyns is commented upon and expressly disapproved, Judge McKinney saying that that case was hastily considered, and that though Weakly vs. Watkyns might be distinguished from the case then before the Court by the element of most outrageous fraud which characterized the latter, yet he was inclined to rest the decision upon the distinct principle announced in Cooper vs. Cropwait, that public policy required that contracts of that nature should be canceled by the courts. It was held in Simmons vs. Kincaid, 5 Sneed, 450, that where a slave had been conveyed as the consideration of compounding a felony, the Court would not set the sale aside at the instance of one joint owner who, being of full age, participated in the sale, but would rescind it as to the shares of those who signed the bill of sale while they were infants. In Williams vs. Taliafero, 1 Coldwell, 38, the bill was filed by a judgment creditor of one Sharp, to subject to his judgment real estate which Sharp had conveyed in consideration of a wager. The Court held that by statute every lease or conveyance of land made upon a gaming consideration is absolutely void, and therefore the creditors of Sharp had a right to subject his land so conveyed to the payment of their debts. McKinney J. says that Sharp himself might have gone into equity to have the deed canceled as a cloud upon his title; but he does not allude to the case of Allen vs. Dodd, 4 Hump. 131, which decides that betting upon elections is not within the statutes on the subject of gaming; nor to the principle decided in that case, and in Yerger vs. Rains, 4 Hump. 259, Smith vs. Stephens, 5 Sneed 253, and in Simmons vs. Kincaid, 5 Sneed, 454, that independently of the statutory authority property lost upon a wager or sold in violation of law cannot be recovered back. It might, perhaps, be held that in such a case the creditors would have more extensive rights than the debtor himself.

Hale vs Sharp, 4 Coldw. 275, was a case in which it appeared that the complainants had borrowed of defendants $700 in Confederate Treasury notes, for which they gave him their note and executed a deed of trust to secure the loan. The trustee being about to sell the land in pursuance of the power, the bill was filed to enjoin the sale, and for general relief. This Court decreed that the note and trust deed were void, and perpetually enjoined the sale. One ground for the interference of the Court, stated by Hawkins J., in the opinion of the Court was that equity regards the borrower as acting under oppression, and influenced by hardship or necessity, and therefore, though in delicto not in pari delicto with the lender, but the decision is not based upon this distinction. I am of the opinion myself that this last distinction has been often pushed further than justice or the facts would warrant. Upon these authorities the question can perhaps hardly be considered as settled in their State, but I think that the weight of authority is in favor of the jurisdiction of Courts of Chancery to decree the delivery and cancellation of securities like the one now in question. But upon principle and the high authority of Judge Story and in England, I am satisfied that the jurisdiction must be sustained in those cases in which it is found that the public interest will be subserved by the setting aside and cancellation of the illegal contract, and I think that contracts like the one in the present case, which are not only illegal as made in violation of statutory law, but are in the highest degree contrary to public policy, as tending to corrupt the channels of justice can be more effectually discouraged by setting them aside altogether than by simply leaving the parties to the remedies of a court of law. A party contemplating an illegal or immoral contract may be willing to take the risks of its enforcement in a court of law trusting to the chances of failure of proof or to the uncertainties of a jury trial. But he will be much less likely to complete the corrupt transactions, if he knows that not only will the law upon full proof of the circumstances refuse to aid him, but that a Court of Chancery will demand of him a sworn disclosure of the facts and will actively interfere to prevent his realizing the fruits of his corruption.

The conclusion is that the decree of the Chancellor overruling the demurrer to the bill is correct and must be affirmed.

What is a Tonic?—Bear this in mind—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant—a stimulant, unmodified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but A DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the rye spirits which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heady and brain exciting properties, which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state. It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and sooths cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them.

Remarkable Cure

A CARD FROM J. S. DAY, ESQ.,

Firm of Day & Proudfit, Commission Merchants, No. 9 Monroe Street.

MEMPHIS, TENN., May 12, 1869.

DR. LIGHTHILL has operated upon my friend Mr. J. S. McANULTY, of Hardeman county, for a case of complicated Catarrh, with perfect success, affording him complete relief by one operation, after seven years of constant suffering.
J. S. DAY.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

[Extract from Dr. Lighthill's work on Catarrh and Kindred Diseases of the Mucous Membran.]

The earliest, most prominent and characteristic feature of Catarrh is a discharge from the head, consisting sometimes of a clear, acrid fluid, but oftener of a thick, fetid, purulent, yellow or greenish yellow matter, which is usually secreted in excessive abundance, and discharged through the nostrils or throat, and frequently by both channels.

The nature of this discharge varies in different cases, and even in the same individual, at different times. In some it is copious, and of a loose or fluid character, whilst in others it is very viscid or gummy, adhering in the diseased membrane with glue-like tenacity, and removable only with great difficulty—a condition more particularly noticed on rising in the morning, because, during sleep, the purulent secretion hardens and accumulates with greater facility.

Not unfrequently the discharge collects mainly in the back part of the head, above and behind the soft palate, creating a feeling of embarrassed respiration, and a general uneasiness in the parts involved. When thus affected an almost irresistible desire is constantly experienced to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucous down into the throat so as to eject it by the mouth. This practice, popularly known as hawking, is characteristic of the complaint, and proves as embarrassing to the one affected as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the offensive matter concretes into dry, hard masses or crusts, which obstruct breathing, and are very difficult to detach, their dislodgment often requiring most violent efforts. Sometimes these incrustations come away in small, whitish lumps or fragments of a deep green tint, but occasionally broad and flat casts of a notable size are expelled, on which traces of blood may at times be observed. This condition is very liable to run on to serious ulceration, involving a loss of the bony structure of the nose, and a subsequent flattening of that organ.

The nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable stuffy sensation in the head, and occasionally to violent paroxysms of sneezing.

A feeling of fullness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain is generally experienced in the nostrils, near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat above and behind the soft palate. A distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression is usually complained of over the forehead, especially in the region immediately above and between the eyes. Sometimes the pain is obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temples, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits; and occasionally pain manifests itself in the face, of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The voice is generally affected and becomes hoarse, muffled, weak and uneven, assuming a nasal character, or an unpleasant, snuffling quality. Cough, of variable severity, is not unfrequently one of the symptoms and results of Catarrh.

The breath is tainted, and assumes, at times, an exceedingly fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The sense of smell is generally blunted or entirely lost in Catarrh, and a similar effect on taste may be occasionally observed. The eyes are apt to become irritable, and disposed to water excessively on exposure to the cold or wind, and a sense of weariness of sight is usually experienced after slight exertions. Hearing becomes frequently more or less impaired, and noises in the head very often add materially to the existing distress.

The stomach generally suffers more or less, and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious, and nearly always bad in the morning.

The patients often complain of lassitude and fatigue, an incapacity for either physical or mental exertions, and a constant disposition to drowsiness and sleep. The mental faculties are also sometimes slightly affected, loss of memory being not unfrequently experienced.

Catarrh may prove fatal either by debilitating the system and wearing out the patient, or by traveling downward and producing consumption. This fact has been so repeatedly noticed that all experienced practitioners now look upon Catarrh as one of the most frequent and important causes of this complaint, but according to our extensive observation it should in fact always be regarded as a premonition, and one of the very earliest manifestations of consumption.

OUR TREATMENT.

Our method of treatment for the cure of Catarrh is philosophic, commending itself at once to the common sense of every sufferer. It embraces the thorough topical medication of every portion of the affected regions by a novel and most ingenious process, by which every part of the diseased membrane is effectively reached and subjected to the most perfect and complete remedial control.

So effective is this plan of treatment that its striking advantages exhibit themselves from the very commencement of treatment. A single application is generally productive of prompt and immediate relief. The affected cavities are thoroughly cleansed from the incrusted morbific matter, the offensive smell is removed, and relief from other troublesome symptoms is almost immediately experienced. The discharge soon diminishes, irritation is allayed, the inflamation subsides, ulcerations are made to heal, until finally a radical and permanent cure is effected.

The applications do not cause the least pain, inconvenience or unpleasant sensation, and after the necessary instructions, the treatment can be followed at home with perfect success, and without any interruption to diet or business.

FINANCE.

The Exchange market exhibited no change in rates. The supply is ample and well distributed, but the demand is very light on all points.

Money is easy and regular. Customers find no difficulty in negotiating short paper at the usual bank rates.

City Scrip is in demand by dealers and tax payers. The latter have some difficulty in buying at our quotations, except in a small way. A transaction amounting to some $600 occurred between dealers to-day at 84½c.

County Warrants are dull. A dealer having an order to fill, bought during the day, at a fraction under 71c, but as a general thing they will not pay over our quotations below.

Police Scrip is dull also. Dealers are well supplied.

City Bonds are in some demand at 52@52½c, but none on the market. All Southern Stocks and Bonds are in demand.

COTTON.

The Liverpool market at the opening to-day was quiet. Uplands 11½d; Orleans, 11¾d. It was unchanged at noon, and closed easier but not lower. Uplands, 11½d; Orleans, 11¾d. Sales, 8000 bales.

The New York market opened quiet but steady. Low Middlings, 27¾c; Uplands, 28¾c; Good Middlings, 29¾c. It was unchanged at noon. Prices were steady and demand fair at 1:40 p.m., and closed with an active demand at same quotations. Sales to spinners 730 bales; to speculators 755 bales; for export 2410 bales.

Our market has been very dull. There was some inquiry for good styles, but the views of holders were too high to suit buyers, who confined themselves to small begging lots. Low cottons are neglected and prices very irregular as heretofore. Prices on the whole were about as on yesterday, with holders of tables firm.

TRADE.

The same quietness prevails in the general markets which we have noted for some days back. There is no interruption of any kind. No sudden change in prices—no speculative demand for anything. The same prices rule to-day that were asked a week ago, and so far as we can foresee, they will be the same a week hence.

Dry goods are steady and in only moderate demand, while boots and shoes show no variation in prices, with a fair trade doing in staple goods.

Already we hear of visitors arriving in our city who intend to be present at our great Commercial Convention, which commences on Tuesday next, as the various railroad and packet lines have made very liberal arrangements to carry passengers to and fro. We expect our city to be the scene of unusual activity during the coming week. The merchants and planters of West Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas are interested alike with us in the questions which will come up on this occasion, and we hope all will attend.

There are few choice green APPLES in market, and prices are firm. We quote at 9 to $12 per bbl.

The supply of BUTTER is fair, but there is little choice in market. We quote dull at 30 to 32c.

GAS WORKS, May 14th.

River fell 3 inches in past 24 hours—below city high water mark, 5 feet 7½ inches; below high water mark of 1867, 6 feet 7½ inches.

CHAS. GOODWIN.

The weather is cloudy and cool, not at all seasonable, and will do the crops much injury. The decline in the river goes on apace, and it will, we think, fall several feet before a change occurs. Our exchanges give no report of any swell of magnitude as coming from any direction, and we may safely predict that we have felt the worst this season. Our dispatches of yesterday, from below, report much alarm in New Orleans, where the river is now as high as it was in 1862 and crevasses are imminent. One has occurred in West Baton Rouge, nearly opposite Port Hudson, which will drown out that fertile parish and overflow the Grosse Tete, Placquemine, Old River and Lafourche districts, among the best in the State. The break at the point alluded to will do nearly as much damage as one at Grand Levee, only about twenty miles above, which is the water gate of eleven parishes. The break caused a decline of two inches in the river at Baton Rouge in a few hours While we, therefore, at all points above Vicksburg, have cause for congratulation, those living lower down on the river are in danger.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business on the levee yesterday was rather dull, with a slim list of arrivals and departures.

We publish to-day particulars of the fire at Cincinnati as well as the lately adopted regulations for the observance of pilots. Our readers therefore must pardon the absence of other matter.

The Ozark, Capt. Blaisdell, is the regular U. S. mail packet for the Arkansas to-day. She connects at Little Rock with the packets for Fort Smith, and makes all way landings. She is also a popular passenger packet. Ad. Storm and Jim Saulsbury are her clerks.

Capt. John B. Davis will be at home to-morrow.

The splendid steamer Minneola, Capt. W. B. Miller, leaves at her regular hour to-day for Cairo and Cincinnati. She is fast, comfortable, and makes all intermediate landings. Mr. Wm Hall is her secretary.

Persons wishing a splendid opportunity to visit the White river region should not miss the famous Liberty to-day. She goes to Augusta—carries the U. S. mail—connects with the Little Rock train—connects with the Fairy Queen for upper White river, and is in all respects an elegant packet. Capt. Conley is master, Jimmy Thompson and Charley Sharpe clerks.

The Dexter, Capt. Sam Montgomery, will pass down for Vicksburg and New Orleans to-day at 5 p m. She is a splendid passenger packet.

Capt. James O. Duff, of the Avalanche, returned yesterday from Louisville.

The John Kilgour was due yesterday, and no doubt passed down during the night.

The splendid City of Cairo, Capt. Malin, will back out to-day for Cairo and St. Louis. Sam Weaver sells tickets via this line to all points North. His office is at the corner of Main and South Court. Henry Corbyn is chief clerk of the Cairo.

The Marble City, Capt. Jack Carter, with Henry Dietrich at the desk, will pass down to day for Vicksburg and all way landings. She is the regular U. S. mail packet.

The gay Linton, Capt. Les Ware, will get away this evening for all points on the St. Francis to Wittsburg.

Capt. Gus Darch, formerly of the Fairy Queen, is in the city. He sold his interest in the Queen to Capt. Lou. Moon.

The following description of the boats recently burned at Cincinnati will interest many of our readers:

Darling, built at Pittsburg, December, 1863; went in service of Memphis packet company in 1864; capacity, 700 tons; side wheel.

Westmoreland, built at Brownsville, Pa., December, 1859; capacity 1000 tons; side wheel; Rush & Byers owners.

Melnotte, built at California, Pa., March, 1856; capacity 550 tons; stern wheel; E. Gordon et al., of Pittsburg, owners.

The Cincinnati Commercial says of the late fire: All except the Melnotte were burned to the water's edge, and all the hulls sunk, except those of the Darling and Melnotte. The latter two were towed up to the foot of Lawrence street by the Champion, and the sunken wrecks of the balance will be speedily torn up and removed. The underwriters on the wrecks of the Darling and Clifton, yesterday, authorized Capts. Henry A. Jones and Frank Y. Batchelor to dispose of them at public auction on Tuesday morning next. It is probable the balance of the wrecks will be offered for sale at the same time. The machinery of all was badly burned, and is only fit for scrap-iron.

The Darling had just arrived from Memphis, but, fortunately, had discharged all her cargo, and was light. Capt. Carter and his brother officers lost all their clothing and personal effects.

The Clifton had only from seventy-five to one hundred tons on board, and was to have departed for Memphis last night. These packets generally receive the bulk of their cargo on their day of leaving.

The Mary Erwin, had just dropped down from the docks, to load for Arkansas river, but had not yet received a pound of freight. Capt. Yerkes had just expended $1000 in refitting her.

The Melnotte was also light, and was to have departed for St. Louis to-morrow.

The Cheyenne was to have departed for Arkansas river last night, and had over 200 tons of merchandise on board, including 200 barrels of oil. Capt. Kyle, one of her owners, had on board $7000 worth of bacon, flour, etc., on which there was no insurance. He is the heaviest sufferer by the conflagration, his individual loss amounting to about $20 000.

The Westmoreland had just commenced receiving for New Orleans, and had only a small amount of cargo on board.

Nine bales of cotton and seventy bales of rags for Chatfield & Woods, discharged on the wharf from the Darling, and at the owner's risk, were partially burned.

The insurance valuation is as follows: Clifton, $35,000; Westmoreland, $28 000; Melnotte, $11,000; Darling, $18 000; Cheyenne, $28,000; Mary Erwin, $15,000. Total, $135,000.

The Mary Erwin is insured for $10,000, of which $2500 is in Cincinnati and the remainder in Pittsburg companies.

The loss of freight was $100,000—nearly all insured. Total loss, $235,000.

To Pilots.

The following are the rules and reuglations for the government of pilots of steamers navigating the rivers flowing into the Gulf of Mexico, and their tributaries, revised and adopted by the board of supervising inspectors, January 26, 1869, as authorized by acts of Congress to provide for the better security of the lives of passengers on board of vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam:

Rule I. When steamers are approaching each other, the signal for passage shall be one sound of the steam whistle to keep to the right, and two sounds of the steam whistle to keep to the left. These signals shall be made first by the ascending steamers. If the dangers of navigation, darkness of the night, narrowness of the channel, or any other cause, render it necessary for the descending boat to take the other side, she can do so by making the necessary signals, and the ascending steamer must govern herself accordingly These signals to be observed by all steamers, either day or night

Rule II. Should steamers be likely to pass each other, and these signals should not be made and answered by the time such boats shall have arrived at the distance of eight hundred yards from each other, the engines of both shall be stopped; or should the signal be given and not properly understood, from any cause whatever, both boats shall be backed until their headway shall be fully checked, and the engines shall not be again started ahead until the proper signals are made, answered and understood. Doubts or fears of misunderstanding signals shall be expressed by several short sounds of the whistle in quick succession.

Rule III. When the two boats are about to enter a narrow channel at the same time, the ascending boat shall be stopped below such channel until the descending boat shall have passed through it; but should two boats unavoidably meet in such channel, then it shall be the duty of the pilot of the ascending boat to make the proper signals, and when answered by the descending boat to lie as close as possible to the side of the channel the exchange of signals may have determined, as allowed by rule first, and either stop the engines or move them so as only to give the boat steerage way, and the pilot of the descending boat shall cause his boat to be worked slowly until he has passed the ascending boat.

Rule IV. When a steamer is ascending and running close on a bar or shore, the pilot shall in no case attempt to cross the river when a descending boat shall be so near that it would be possible for a collision to ensue therefrom.

Rule V. No pilot of a descending steamer shall run down any island chute which is not the main channel of the river—except such chutes as are designated by these rules, or may hereafter be designated by the board of supervising inspectors.

Rule VI. When any steamer, whether ascending or descending, is nearing a short bend, or point where, from any cause a steamer approaching in an opposite direction cannot be be seen at a distance of six hundred yards, the pilot of such steamer, when he shall have arrived within six hundred yards of that bend or point, shall give a signal of one long sound of his steam whistle as a notice to any steamer which may be approaching; and should there be an approaching steamer within hearing of such signal, it shall be the duty of the pilot thereof to answer such signal by one long sound of his steam whistle; and both boats shall be navigated with the proper precautions, as required by preceding rules,

Rule VII When a steamer is running in a fog or thick weather, it shall be the duty of the pilot to sound his steam whistle at intervals not exceeding two minutes.

Rule VIII When steamers are running in the same direction, and the pilot of the boat which is astern shall desire to pass either side of the boat ahead, he shall give the signal as in rule I, and the pilot of the boat ahead shall answer by the same signal, and allow the other to pass on the side selected, and shall in no case attempt to cross her bow or crowd upon her course.

Rule IX. When boats are moving from their dock or berth, and other boats are liable to pass from any direction toward them, they shall give the same signal as in case of boats meeting at a bend; but immediately after clearing the berth so as to be fully in sight, they shall be governed by rule II.

Rule X. All barges, when towed by steamers and navigated between sunset and sunrise, shall have their signal lights, as required by law, placed in a suitable manner on the starboard bow of the starboard barge, which lights shall not be less than ten feet above the surface of the water.

Rule XI. Steamers descending the Ohio and Mississippi rivers between Louisville, Ky, and New Orleans, La., shall not run down any island chute, either by day or night, except those herein or hereinafter designated, unless such chutes are the usual channel of the river.

Rule XII. The following island chutes may be navigated by descending steamers on the Ohio river between Louisville, Ky., and Cairo, Ill., when the river shall be sufficiently high for them to do so with safety, viz: Blue river island, Diamond island, Golconda island, Sister islands, Stewart's islands and Cumberland island, either by day or night, and the Wabash island chute by daylight only.

Rule XIII.—The following island chutes on the Mississippi river, between Cairo and New Orleans, may be navigated, by descending steamers during daylight, when the river shall be sufficiently high for them to do so with safety, viz: Islands Nos. 8, 31, 35, 40, 41, called Paddy's Hen. 46 or President's Island, 65, 75 or Ozark Island, 76, 93, 109 or Palmyra Island, 110 or Big Black Island, 126 or Glasscock's Island, and 123 or Profit's island.

Rule XIV. The following island chutes may be navigated by descending steamers during the night when the river may be sufficiently high for them to do so with safety, viz: Islands Nos. 8, 34, 41 or Paddy's Hen, 65, 76, 93, 97, 109 or Palmyra Island, 110 or Big Black Island, 126 or Glasscock's Island.

Rule XV. Ascending steamers are not prohibited from running any island chutes.

Rule XVI. Signal lights for steamers under way are provided by law as follows, the same to be carried between sunset and sunrise:

For ocean steamers and steamers carrying sail, a bright white light at the foremast head, to throw the light through ten points of the compass on each side of the ship, viz: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam, and to be visible at least five miles On the starboard side a green light, and on the port side a red light, each to throw the light through ten points of the compass on the respective sides, viz: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam, and to be visible at least two miles. These colored lights are to be fitted with inboard screen, projecting at least three feet forward from the light, to prevent them from being seen across the bow.

For steamers navigating waters flowing into the Gulf of Mexico, a red light on the outboard side of the port smoke-pipe, and a green light on the outboard side of the starboard smoke-pipe—these lights to show both forward and aft and also abeam on their respective sides.

For coasting steamers and those navigating bays, lakes, or other inland waters, other than ferryboats and those above provided for, the red and green side lights as provided for ocean steamers, and a central range of two white lights, the after light being carried at an elevation of at least fifteen feet above the light at the head of the vessel; the head light to show through twenty points of the compass, namely: From right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side of the vessel; and the after light to show all around the horizon.

For steamers towing other vessels, the colored lights will be the same as prescribed for ocean steamers; and two white mast-lights shall also be carried vertically, to distinguish them from other steamers; the white lights to show through twenty points of the compass, namely: From right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side of the vessel; white lights shall also be placed on the extreme outside of the tow on either hand and also on the extreme after part of the same.

Rule XVII. A bright white light, not exceeding twenty feet above the hull shall be exhibited by all steamers when at anchor, between sunset and sunrise, in a globular lantern of eight inches diameter, so placed as to show a good light all around the horizon.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL

A WEEKLY PAPER,

DEVOTED to Literature, Science and Art. Omitting ordinary news, and avoiding partisan advocacy, both political and sectarian, the JOURNAL will be devoted to general literature, to science, art and education, and to the diffusion of valuable information upon subjects of public importance. It is intended to make use of all resources, original and selected, domestic and foreign, which can give interest and variety to its pages; and neither exertion nor expense will be spared to secure the aid of the best talent of the time. We abstain from the large professions and the parade of conspicuous names so common on these occasions, and, trusting to the intelligence of the people, shall be content to let the Journal speak for itself The department of literature will embrace:

Fiction, in the form of both Serial Novels and Short Stories;
Essays upon Literary and Social Topics;
Sketches of Travel and Adventure;
Discussions upon Art, Books, and kindred themes;
Papers upon all the various subjects that pertain to the pursuits and recreations of the people, whether of town or country; and Poems by our foremost poets.

Illustrations will form an important feature in the plan of the JOURNAL. Nearly every number will be accompanied by either an Illustrated Supplement on some Popular Theme, A Steel Engraving in the best Style of the Art, or a Large Cartoon, engraved on wood. No. 1.—Contains a Cartoon of the Grand Drive in the Central Park, a Spirited and Animated Scene. No. 2—Contains an Eight Page Supplement of Unground Life and Mining with 10 Illustrations. No 3—A Steel Engraving of Noon on the Seashore, from a Picture of Kensett. No. 4—An Art Supplement, containing New York Illustrated with 13 Superb Illustrations. No 5—A Superb Cartoon of the Levee at New Orleans.

Novelty, freshness, and continual change will be aimed at in this department. The Illustrations will usually be valuable as works of art, those on steel, and the Cartoons, consisting of views of American scenery, by our most distinguished painters, and illustrations of character and life, by our foremost draughtsmen. They will be printed with extra care on separate sheets, and may be either bound in the volume at the close of the year, or framed to hang upon the wall. The JOURNAL, in this feature, will be unlike any other

Each number of APPLETON'S JOURNAL contains 32 pages of reading matter. The great novel of VICTOR HUGO, entitled THE MAN WHO LAUGHS; or, BY THE KING'S COMMAND, was begun in the first number.
